

VIRTUAL MUSIC TECHNOLOGY WITH BRENT DANIELS

THE TECH

Broadcasting from a production studio in the NY Metro, and utilizing a cinema-grade multi-camera setup, the latest in music technology and a truly unique approach to remote audience interactivity, VIRTUAL MUSIC TECHNOLOGY with BRENT DANIELS is a one-of-a-kind K-12 virtual music assembly! This is not your everyday distance learning or work-from-home meeting!

SHOW

VIRTUAL MUSIC TECHNOLOGY shows students the important relationship between the technology they use everyday and the creation of the music and sounds they hear in movies, games and the music in their lives. Student volunteers participate in this online program to help Brent create unique on-the-spot sound design and produce music in real time!

THEME

A passionate advocate for education, Brent uses his program as a vehicle for delivering an important message: a student's education, great study habits and positive decision-making are essential for success in all aspects of their lives. Educators across all subjects from music, to science, math, history and more will return to their virtual classroom after Brent's online show with a wealth of material for discussion with their students.
